INTERNATIONAL
expanding the kingdom...

The invitation of Jesus is a revolutionary call to fight for the heart of humanity. We are called to an unconventional war using only weapons of faith, hope, and love. Nevertheless, this war is no less dangerous than any ever fought. And for those of us who embrace the cause of Christ, the cost to participate in the mission of God is nothing less than everything we are and everything we have.

- Erwin Raphael McManus

The third phase of training focuses on the implementation of the extensive training received during the Passion and Compassion phases. JAI intern's will minister alongside local pastors in spiritual warfare during this phase. Under the capable leadership of Mustard Tree Missions' international staff, you will experience the Power of God through a great variety of ministry opportunities across Venezuela. You will be used to capture the hearts of the lost through practical outreaches including: construction, education, music, medical assistance, sports, and many other areas. Interns should expect to encounter various forms of satanic oppression, voodoo and the occult in many of the villages and barrios. However, true light shines the brightest in the darkness. Miracles of healing, deliverance, restoration, and other signs and wonders are common place as the people are very receptive to God's Word. The ministry will center in Barquisimeto and will include travels to other parts of Venezuela possibly including villages in the Andes Mountains, the Sahara like desert of Coro, and the Amazon.
